The Department of Psychology, Muralidhar Girls’ College and The Department of Clinical Psychology under The Gayatri Chetna Foundation in association with George Group of Colleges, Unit of The George Telegraph Group organized an interactive session on “Clinical Psychology in the present day and near future” for Semester VI Honours students on 25.02.2022 at 11:00 am. The session was organized by Payel Sengupta, Assistant Director, Career Guidance, collaborating with the Department of Psychology and IQAC of Muralidhar Girls’ College. The session was conducted by Rajeswaree Basu, Assistant Professor and Consultant Psychologist on Clinical psychology as a discipline of Psychology. The focus was on Clinical Psychology as a field of psychology and its implications. The session included the role of a clinical psychologist. It covered the emergence of clinical psychology post-pandemic Covid 19 and the roles played by Clinical psychologists post-pandemic. The Clinical Psychologists have been actively working through web portals and the way the work is processed is taught to the students. The students were also oriented about the skills of clinical psychologists and the future study areas of clinical psychology. They were given ideas about higher studies in this field. They were told about the licensure required for Clinical Psychologists. Finally, they were oriented about the Department of Clinical Psychology at MAKAUT university.

The session was concluded by Dr. Parimal Bhattacharya, Principal of The Gayatri Chetna Foundation who spoke about Goal orientation and focuses on life for students. He gave a vision and mission to the students for their future.

The session was highly interactive with students asking about Legal Aspects of Clinical Psychologists (especially suicidal cases and marital issues), Higher education policy and licensing bodies.
