India

India is probable the only country in the world where people belonging to different religions, castes and creeds, speaking different languages, having different cultures, different modes of living, different clothing, different feeding habits, worshipping different gods and deity live together in harmony and believe to be the children of one mother-MOTHER INDIA. They are one nation at large. Geographically India is a vast country so much so that even one of its states is bigger than many countries of Europe. But the whole country is well bounded by nature. In the north is the Himalayan Range. On the other side is the Indian Ocean, the Bay of Bengal and the Arabian sea. This provides, natural geographical unity to INDIA

we have different religions in India. Apart from Hinduism we have the followers of Buddhism, Jainism, Islam, Sikhism, Christianity and parsees. But Hindus form the greater majority. There are, no doubt, different factions, sections and sub-section but basically we all believe in the theory of Dharma and Karma. The theory of rebirth, purification of soul, salvation, Heaven and Hell holds good for each and every one. We untidily celebrate the festivals like Holi, Diwali, Christmas, Id, BudhJayanti and MahavirJaynti. This provides unity in diversity.

The Travel and Tourism Competitiveness Report for the year 2017, ranked India 40th out of 136 countries overall. The report ranks the price competitiveness of India's tourism sector 10th out of 136 countries. It mentions that India has quite good air transport (ranked 32nd), particularly given the country's stage of development, and reasonable ground transport infrastructure (ranked 29th). The country also scores high on natural and cultural resources (ranked 9th).^[12] However, some other aspects of its tourism infrastructure remain somewhat underdeveloped. The nation has very few hotel rooms per capita by international comparison and low ATM penetration.^[13] The World Tourism Organization reported that India's receipts from tourism during 2012 ranked 16th in the world, and 7th among Asian and Pacific countries.^[14] refers to the tourist attractions in the Indian state of West Bengal. West Bengal is a state in the eastern region of India and is the nation's fourth-most populous.^[1] It is also the seventh-most populous sub-national entity in the world, with over 91 million inhabitants.^[1] It is bordered by the countries of Nepal, Bhutan, and Bangladesh, and the Indian states of Orissa, Jharkhand, Bihar, Sikkim, and Assam. The state capital is Kolkata (formerly Calcutta). West Bengal encompasses two broad natural regions: the Gangetic Plain in the south and the sub-Himalayan and Himalayan area in the north. With these there are two major natural regions i.e., the Western plateau and the great Sundarban delta.

West Bengal stretches to the Bay of Bengal in the south.^[4] The coastal strip of West Bengal, extending from the Gangetic Delta to the border of Orissa has some beautiful coastal settlements namely Digha, Shankarpur, Mandarmani, Bakkhali, Gangasagara, Tajpur and more others.^[5] The notable Hindu temples include ,

Murshidabad

The name 'Murshidabad' comes from the place known as "Muksudabad" which was the capital of Bengal during MurshidQuli Khan's rule. Before the advent of British, the city of Murshidabad was the capital of Bengal. It has a great significance in the Indian History as in 1757 the British defeated Siraj-ud-Daula in the Battle of Plassey, after which the entire nation was brought under the British Colonial Rule. Even after the conquest of Bengal by the British, Murshidabad remained for some time the seat of administration.

The town still bears memories of Nawabs with mosques, tombs, and gardens, and retains such industries as carving in ivory, gold and silver embroidery and silk weaving. Of historic interest are NizamatKila (the Fortress of the Nawabs) also known as the Hazaarduari Palace (Palace of a Thousand Doors), the Motijhil (Pearl Lake), the Muradbagh Palace and the Khushbagh Cemetery. Murshidabad today is a centre for agriculture, handicrafts and sericulture.

In shape, the district resembles an isosceles triangle with its apex pointing to the North-West. Murshidabad is in the middle of West Bengal lying between 23°43'N and 24°52'N latitude and 87°49'E and 88°44'E longitude with HQ at Berhampur. It has a total area of 5316.11 sq. km. Padma River flows through the entire eastern boundary, separating the district from the districts of Malda and Rajshahi (Bangladesh). Burdwan and Nadia are in the Southern side and Birbhum and the Pakur (Jharkhand) are on the western side of the District. The main river Bhagirathi divides the district in two parts namely 'BAGRI' on eastern side and 'RARH' on western side. The district has an international border with Bangladesh covering a distance of 125.35 km of which 42.35 km is

On land and the remaining is riverine running along 11 blocks. Murshidabad has 254 Gram Panchayats, 26 blocks, 5 Sub-divisions and 7 Municipalities.

Demography

Murshidabad district has 6% of the area and comprises 7.78% of the total population of West Bengal. As per Census 2011, the total population is 71.02 lakh and is expected to cross 70 lakh and the literacy rate is 63.88%. Murshidabad has a large concentration of minority population may be more than 66% of the total population. It is educationally backward and the poor female literacy rate is a matter of concern.

History of Murshidabad

The district derives its name from Murshidabad. Emperor Aurangzeb sent his Diwan Kartalab Khan at Murshidabad for collection of revenue during his regime. Emperor became very pleased with Kartalab Khan for his performance and named him as MurshidKuli Khan. MurshidKuli Khan shifted provincial revenue headquarter from Dacca to Murshidabad in 1704 A.D. Another school is of opinion that MuksudanDas, a follower of Nanak, founded this city during the regime of Hussain Shah (1493-1519 A.D.).

Murshidabad is the northern most district of Presidency Division of West Bengal and is located at its northern eastern boundary. It is lying centrally in the lower Ganga valley. The area of district is 5324 sq. Km. Population is 7102430. There are 05

(five) sub-divisions & 26 (twenty six) Blocks and number of Municipalities stand 07 (seven).

The river Bhagirathi, flowing from north to south through the district, divides it into two almost equal portions which in their geology, their characteristics, their agriculture and even the religion of their inhabitants form a striking contrast to each other. The tract to the west of river is locally known as 'Rarh' and the track to the east as 'Bagri'.

Since the time of NawabMurshidKuli Khan (1704-1725 A.D.) to last NawabMirjafar (1757 to 1760 A.D.) many beautiful sculptures, buildings of endearing nature have been built which attract the tourists even from abroad all the year around.

Murshidabad is truly an historical place, replete with historical & tourist spots. If approached with academic interest it will take at least 12-15 days even a more to cover the whole. A few notable / distinguished tourist spots are here only mentioned sub-divisions-wise for a ready reckoner to the tourists.

Destinations in Murshidabad

❖ The Hazarduari Palace

- The palace built with thousand doors is one of the major tourist attractions of Murshidabad. The palace was once the site for holding the 'Durbar' or meetings of the Nawabs.

This three-storey palace was built by Duncan McLeod 1837 for Nawab Najim Humaun Jah. The palace built in the European architectural style over an area of 41 acres, features thousands of doors, 114 rooms and 8 galleries. The palace has now been transferred into a museum, showcasing a collection of paintings and portraits of Nawabs, armoury, various works of ivory of China and many other valuables.

Swords used by Siraj-ud-Daulla and his grandfather, Nawab Alivardi Khan are also displayed in the museum. Some other attractions are vintage cars, used by Nawabs and their families. Visitors are not allowed in the library of the palace, unless special permission is obtained.

❖ Kath Golabagan

- Located a few kilometers off Murshidabad, this palace complex, built originally to entertain European and Muslim guests during trade visits, is a marvel of its own.

The pace Kathgola (wood war house) acquires its name from the lumbre yard that used to be functional in the area before the palace was built. means Garden of rose and wood was built by three brothers who were merchants as well as smugglers. There is a said under ground path which leads to Jagath Seth's house, it is now closed. There is a tirthankar temple and a ruin of a zoo and Michel Angelo statue near underground

❖ Imambara in Murshidabad

- Located on the banks of Bhagirathi river and opposite to Hazarduari palace, the Bara Imambara was built by Nawab Nazim Mansoon Ali Khan FeradunJah in 1847 AD. It was built after the Imambara built by Siraj-ud-Doula was destroyed in fire. It was built in only 11 months. It is considered the largest Imambara in India.

The architecture of the complex reflects the maturation of ornamented Mughal design, namely the Badshahi Mosque - it is one of the last major projects not incorporating any European elements or the use of iron. The main imambara consists of a large vaulted central chamber containing the tomb of Asaf-ud-Daula. At 50 by 16 meters and over 15 meters tall, it has no beams supporting the ceiling and is one of the largest such arched constructions in the world. There are eight surrounding chambers built to different roof heights, permitting the space above these to be reconstructed as a three-dimensional labyrinth with passages interconnecting with each other through 489 identical doorways.

❖ Madina: -

Between the palace and the Imambara is a small mosque, 'Madina', with colourful tiled verandahs. The Mosque has an ornamented replica of Hazrat Muhammad's tomb at Madina.

❖ Bachchawali Tope

- The Bachchawali Tope Around the palace are other attractions like the WasefManzil (the New Palace) by the bank of the Ganga, Tripolia Gate, the DakshinDarwaza, the ChakDarwaza, the Imambara, the Gharighar (the Clock Tower), the Bachchawali Tope (a canon) and the Madina, the only surviving structure built by Siraj-ud-Doula. The Bachchawali Tope (canon) was made between the 12th and the 14th century, probably by the Mohammedan rulers of Gour, and requires about 18 Kg of gun powder for a single shelling.

• Tomb of Azimunnisa Begum

This is actually the tomb of Azimunnisa Begum, the daughter of NawabMurshid-Quli Khan. People believe that she used to eat the hearts of children in order to g

Get cured from a disease. When her husband

Suja Khan came to know about it he buried her alive at this place. However some scholars totally disagree from this story stating that Azimunnisa Begum was just sent away from Murshidabad as a punishment and later on when she died she was buried here. Now apart from her grave one can see a beautiful garden on top of the grave and the remains of a mosque.

❖ Jafarganjcemetery

- Jafarganj Cemetery Opposite the Deuri, 1.5 km north of Hazarduari is the Zafraganj Cemetery. There are more than 1000 burial sites of Mirzafar and his family here. Along the gate, third from the eastern end lied Mirzafar. Mirzafar's wives Mani Begum and Baboo Begum were also laid to rest in this graveyard.

❖ Nasipur Palace

The miniature of the Hazarduari, the Nasipur Royal Palace is situated a little to the north of Akhra, very close to Jagat Seth's house. It was built in the 2nd half of the 19th century by Raja KirtichandBahadur who came from Panipath to do business and later who became famous during the devastating famine of 76 as a revenue collector of the British company. The palace is also known as the house of Debi Singha. Though the palace is in ruins now, numerous Gods and Goddesses of the Hindu Purana are still in existence. The Jhulan of Nasipur is also famous. A little distance away is the Akhra of Ramanuj sect - Mohandas Ashram.

Other Attractions

❖ Motijheel

Motijheel is about one km South of Lalbagh. This beautiful horseshoe shaped lake was excavated by NawazeshMohammad, the husband of the famous Ghasseti Begum. In the palace adjoining it (now in ruins) Lord city celebrated the deposition of the throne of Jai Singh (Rajput King, Ruled in 1706). Mohalbad was the home of Ahirwa trading who he became the Political Partner of the ruler of the Nawabnagar (1714 - 1744). In 1714 Ahirwa Ahirwads first tentatively also had been. Mohalbad is also known as the 'Vastava' Bagh, due to the fact of it having been in the occupation of the East India Company. The only old building existing is the Mosque of Mir Jafar.

❖ Katra Mosque

- Another striking tourist spot of Mohalbad and perhaps one of the most well maintained too. Katra Mosque was built in 1724 by Mir Jafar Khan, a devoted follower of Miranbad Khan.

❖ Jafarjung Palace

- Located about a mile from Hazarduar Palace is the Jafarjung complex. Mir Jafar originally built his palace in this three and a half acre land. But now the place serves as a cemetery for Mir Jafar and many family members of his.

period. He played a key role in the conspiracy involving JahanKosha is a kilometer off Katra. JanardanKarmakar of Dhaka, a small craftsman at the time, built this imposing cannon. The 7 ton Cannon literally means 'the Destroyer of the World'. In addition to the 18 feet tall cannon, another attraction is the beautiful Kadam Sharif Mosque which contains the replica of the footprint of Hazrat Mohammad, the prophet

❖ House of Jagat Seth Museum

It contains personal possessions of Jagat Seth and his family including coins of the bygone era, muslin and other extravagant clothes, Banarasisarees embroidered with gold and silver threads.

also the title for the powerful moneylender family he belonged to, looked after the mint and treasury accounts of Bengal during the Nawabi the imprisonment and ultimate killing of Nawab Siraj-ud-Daulah. His house, replete with a secret underground tunnel as well as an underground chamber, where illegal trade plans were hatched, is what has been converted into the museum.

Transportation of Murshidabad

Murshidabad by Road

Murshidabad is well connected via roadways to the rest of India, owing to the famous Grand Trunk Road transmitted through the city. There is no bus stand in Murshidabad, however. You have to take a taxi from Malda, approximately 95 km away from Murshidabad.

How to Reach Murshidabad by Train

Travelling by train is another feasible option. The main station is Belhampore Court, that has direct connectivity with Kolkata. Khagrahat, the other main station, is connected with the Howrah Station.

By Air

The nearest airport is NSC Bose Airport, Kolkata to Murshidabad

Local Transport in Murshidabad

Intra City commuting is pretty efficient as it is majorly state run. Cars for hire, buses and cabs are easy to find. Many hotels also offer their private tour guides and cars for extra charges. It is however advised to hire a local taxi or bus as they are cheap and readily available.

Culture Of Murshidabad

Music

Bauls are a religious and cultural group of India, best known for their songs and poems to the god who dwells within. The term "Baul" is usually understood to mean "madman" or religious ecstatic, and Bauls often describe themselves as crazy for God.

Bauls are found primarily in the state of West Bengal in India and in Bangladesh. There are three major communities or lineages (sampradayas). The first is associated with the Birbhum District, which is traditionally considered to be the source of the Baul tradition in West Bengal. This community is in the western part of the state, and it inhabits the districts of Birbhum, Burdwan, Bankura, and Midnapore. It shows many influences, including Tantric Buddhism and Shaktism (goddess worship). The second community is known as the Navadvipasampradaya, which shows strong Bengali Vaishnava influence and is found primarily in the Nadia and Murshidabad districts. The third group is the Muslim Bauls or fakir sampradaya, found primarily in Bangladesh.

Cuisine

The land of culture, arts and literature is also a haunt for foodies and people who relish the art of cooking. The cuisine is rich, in flavour, in color and in the culture and heritage that it represents and food is a way of life in Bengal

West Bengal is a centre for culture, arts and literature. This is where histories, legacies and poetry take the form of colourful and vibrant festivals and rich classical arts, only to flourish in the daily, everyday life. Bengalis are almost always foodies and the most passionate about Bengali food. The main and almost essential elements of the food here are fish, lentils and rice, while, the food gets its flavors from the 5 main spices- Cumin, Nigella, Fenugreek, Aniseed and Mustard seed. The dishes are generally prepared in mustard oil. Sukto, Ambole, Pitha, Chingrimacher Malai curry, MaccherJhol, Begun bhaja (fried eggplant) are the delicacies that almost offer a definition to the cuisine here. Sweet is another indispensable part of Bengali food and the sweets of the state are famous across the country. The sweets of Bengal are generally made of sweetened cottage cheese (chhena). Roshogolla, shondesh, Laddu, Rasmalai, Pantua, Chomchom are Bengali relishes, enjoyed all over India.

Although Murshidabad is not particularly famous for any special cuisine, numerous hotels have decent eating places where you can enjoy a nice meal. However, be very careful about the water. Have only bottled water as the local municipal water is contaminated with arsenic. Murshidabad is also known for murgi biryani, Gobindobhogchaal and Mistipolao among a host of other Bengali and Muglai dishes

Fare and Festival

The two most popular festivals in Murshidabad are BeraUtsav and HazarduariMela. BeraUtsav is organised at Lalbagh. Traditional dance and music performances and fireworks are essential aspects of the celebration of this festival. The festival represents Murshidabad's rich history and highlights how people's love for culture and tradition unite them. The HazarduariMela is organised by the West Bengal State Tourism Department with help from the Murshidabad District administration. Music is an important feature of the HazarduariMela, with performances from local artists like the Bauls and Fakirs belonging to the Murshidi and Marfati genres. All the staples of Bengali cuisine make for everyday meals for the locals in Murshidabad. Ivory carving, gold and silver embroidery work and silk-weaving are some of these crafts. The art of carving ivory was a skill that was patronised by the Nawabs of old, and today, around 99 percent of the total production is exported. As a result, ivory carving significantly contributes to Murshidabad's income. Another popular craft is sandalwood etching. The people of Murshidabad are also famous for their brass and bell metal ware.

BeraUtsav

Organized in mid-September, BeraUtsav witnesses participation by people from the remotest corners of India. It falls on the last Thursday of the Bengali month of Bhadra, which is around mid-September as per the Gregorian calendar. Murshidabad, the city that plays host to the festival, is famous for its enriched heritage and legacy and holds an eminent place in the history of Bengal. The grandeur of this festival, celebrated near the historic palace of Murshidabad, reflects the rich lineage of the city. The grand celebrations of 'BeraUtsav' are conducted at Lalbagh, on the banks of river Bhagirathi, near the palace of Nawabs. The beautiful celebration is adorned by traditional dance and music. The splendid fireworks on Bhagirathi embankment make the venue a picturesque vista that impresses the visitors no end. The festival is enjoyed by people of different age-groups, religions and cultural backgrounds. It not only tells the tale of the city's age-old splendor, but also marks the unity of its people and their love towards their cultural and traditional inheritance.

HazarduariMela

HazarduariMela is conducted by West Bengal State Tourism Department alongwith the Murshidabad District administration. HazarduariMela is held on an open air stage keeping the Hazarduari palace in the backdrop. Between the palace and the Imambara on southern flank of the palace ground, the stalls are set up with various handicrafts of Murshidabad district. The Mela also includes songs by local artists of Bauls and Fakirs of Murshidi and Marfati genre.

RaibensheMela

The first-of-its-kind RaibensheMela kicked off at Sahora in Burwan at Murshidabad district on Friday. The three-day fair will continue till December 10. The fair is being supported by the West Bengal Khadi and Village Industries Board (WBKVIB) and is part of the Empowering Rural Craft and Cultural Hubs (ERCH) initiative undertaken by the Department of Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises (MSME) in association with UNESCO. It has been learnt that the MSME Department, in association with UNESCO, has developed 10 Rural Craft Hubs across 11 locations with 3,000 people involved with handicraft between 2013 and 2016, to support and strengthen grassroots creative enterprises in the state. The project demonstrated how traditional art can be the epicentre of vibrant eco systems that are self-sustaining.

Handicrafts & Silk Industry

The skill of gifted craftsmen can be seen in the district markets. Ivory carving has been patronized from the Nawabs time and about 99% of total production of ivory is exported, which draws a significant amount of Murshidabad's income. Sandalwood etching has become more popular than ivory carving now. Murshidabad is famous for brass and bell metal ware also.

Silk weaving industry constituted to be the principal cottage industry in Murshidabad. The raw silk weaving has been growing prominently since the pre - historic times. However the silk industry in West Bengal is concentrated in Murshidabad. The brand "Murshidabad silk" is not only famous across India, but also has a great demand throughout the world. Sericulture industry is the principal agro-based rural industry in Murshidabad

Silk is something that can add that extra bit of elegance and spark to any attire, whether traditional Indian or western. Silks have been made in India for centuries and their weaving varies from state to state, thus adding a new element to the texture, patterns, and style.

This shiny fabric is particularly manufactured in the silk-manufacturing city of Murshidabad,

West Bengal, wherein everything related to sericulture to weaving and printing takes place making it the 'Silk Mecca' of East India

Murshidabad has always had a high reputation for its quality of silk and that was one of the primary exports that the English East India Company made to England. Murshidabad also has a Center of Sericulture Research and Training Institute, along with various NGOs that assist the silk weavers and rearer, to produce optimally and thus uplift this cottage industry.

According to the survey some tourists wants development in the destination, more trained the guards and said that government must take some more strict decision.

Conclusion

That part of the rant was necessary, since my chosen destination for spending Christmas holidays with family this year was – "Murshidabad". Anybody aware about this long forgotten chapter about India's brilliant past will know that Murshidabad is not only about the famous "Battle of Plassey" that changed the course of the history of the sub-continent. Unfortunately, like many things which I find unbearable about India's education system, our history books have relegated the pomp and grandeur and the long history of the Nawabs of Bengal and Murshidabad – the last flag bearers of independent Indian rulers in this part of the world, to a mere 8 marks essay type answer in the history answer sheets.
